STEP INTO THE FUTURE

Youth exchange project

"Step into the future!" is the youth exchange project is carried for the period of six months (01.02.2017 - 31.07.2017). The purpose of the proposed project is to implement informal education among young unemployed people to increase their knowledge and skills that will help them in job search and thereby become more competitive in the labor market. The general objective of the proposed project is to reduce unemployment among young people in countries with a below-average youth employment level compared to the EU average. The specific objective of the proposed project is to inform young people about the methods of job search (making a quality CV, making inquiries and motivation letters, simulating job vacancies, job search plans, self-employment methods through social and green entrepreneurship). The project's objective is also to exchange knowledge and experience among participants and to familiarize them with examples of good practice and to encourage active and self-seeking job search.

Participants went through a job interview simulation, and they were supposed to devise a job search plan, write a CV, a letter of motivation, and a self-employment plan.

Satisfaction of having enjoyed a great training experience, practiced a lot of English and the enormous pain of getting away from so many new friends. – Adrian Callejo Canal (Spanish group leader)

Project results:

- successfully conducted non-formal education for 23 participants on how to boost competitiveness on job market
- produced a newsletter to be forwarded to at least 50 NGOs in each country involved in a project that will include a description of the project and activities, a description of the non-formal learning methods used in the main activities and learning outcomes;

Intercultural night

- a brochure with the results of the project that the participants achieved through participation in the project, and will include conclusions on how to look like a high quality resume, a request, a motivational letter, to be taken into account when discussing the job and other results the participants have come to themselves;
- greater information on the problem of youth unemployment at national and international levels;
- Improving the knowledge of English
- greater intercultural awareness.
